

2026 Eaton Country Club Board of Directors Candidates

Ron McCormick:

I'm interested in the golf board position. I've been a member of ECC for over 9 years. I enjoy playing golf most days.

I've played golf since college. As a high school teacher I have experience instructing students and peers. I also worked in golf maintenance, grounds, and as a starter and play manager.

My goals are:

- Keeping fees low
- Enhancing greens as needed
- Ensuring a profitable business plan both for golf and the restaurant
- Discover ways to encourage membership.

Travis Higman:

My name is Travis Higman, and I'm grateful for the opportunity to run for a board position at Eaton Country Club. Eaton is more than a place to play golf—it's a gathering place where generations connect, friendships are built, and traditions are carried forward and a place I call home. My desire to serve on the board comes from a genuine love for this community and a belief that we can protect what makes the club special while thoughtfully preparing it for the future.

My wife, Stephanie, and I are raising our two daughters, Kinslee and Bella, here in Northern Colorado, and Eaton Country Club has become an important part of our family life. Some of our most meaningful moments together have been spent at the club—whether enjoying family-focused activities, participating in events, or simply sharing many evenings eating dinner together. The club has provided a place where our family can slow down, connect, and build memories alongside all the members.

Professionally, I am the CEO of SK&T Integration, a Colorado-based business founded by my family in 1997. We are a barcoding and label integrator that serves hospitals and manufacturing facilities. I've spent my career focused on service, stewardship, and long-term relationships—values that align closely with the spirit of Eaton Country Club. I believe strong organizations thrive when leadership listens well, plan responsibly, and serve with humility. Those principles guide how I lead my business, my family, and how I hope to serve this club.

I have been a proud member of Eaton Country Club for a total of seven years, and during that time I've come to deeply appreciate both the history of the club and the people who make it special. My personal vision for Eaton Country Club is centered on sustainability, inclusiveness, and generational growth. I want to help ensure the club remains financially healthy, environmentally responsible, and welcoming to both long-time members and younger families who will carry it forward. Sustainability, to me, means honoring tradition while making smart, forward-thinking decisions that allow the club to thrive for decades to come—not just for us, but for our children and grandchildren.

I bring energy, a fresh perspective, and a deep respect for the foundation already in place. Most of all, I bring a heart for community and a commitment to serving all members with warmth, fairness, and transparency. I would be honored to earn your trust and your vote.

Eldon Marrs:

My name is Eldon Marrs, my wife Hilary and I run a small dairy farm east of Ault, and I have been a member of Eaton Country Club now for 25 years. Over that time, I have seen many changes occur with ECC, but it has always been a great place to play golf and spend time with friends. We have always enjoyed our time at ECC.

As with most country clubs these days, ECC faces constant challenges to bring value to its membership in an ever-changing landscape. I would like the opportunity to be on the board and to do my part to work towards ECC continuing to be an enjoyable and worthwhile experience going forward to all EXCC members.

Thank you for your consideration.

Brison Bishop:

I have been a member of Eaton Country Club for a handful of years and truly value the role it plays in our community. ECC has always been more than just a golf course to me—it is a place where traditions matter, relationships are built, and families come together. I care deeply about the future of the Club and the community that surrounds it.

My wife, Jessica, and I live in Hawkstone, together we have 5 active kids. Golf is a big part of our family life, with most of our kids playing the game. This has provided me with a strong personal connection to the long-term success of Eaton Country Club as a family-focused club.

For the past 15 years, I have helped operate a large-scale commercial landscape company, along with a separate residential and commercial lawn care company. In addition, I currently serve on several boards within the green industry, including the Associated Landscape Contractors of Colorado (ALCC) and the ProGreen Expo Board. Through these roles, I have gained valuable experience in strategic planning, financial oversight, and making decisions that balance today's needs with long-term sustainability.

If elected to the Eaton Country Club Board of Directors, my focus would be on preserving the legacy that makes ECC special while being thoughtful and responsible with how funds are allocated. I want to help ensure the Club remains strong, relevant, and financially healthy for generations to come.

I would appreciate your consideration and support for a position on the Eaton Country Club Board of Directors.

Thank you for the support!
